Kleenheat helps Legacy make a difference

As proud supporters of grass roots community initiatives, Kleenheat presented Northern Territory Legacy with a $5,000 cheque, to help support the families of deceased war veterans in the Northern Territory.

Northern Territory Legacy plays a key role in the support of families and widows of fallen soldiers in Darwin, Katherine and Alice Springs, providing practical assistance such as school funding, household equipment, financial assistance, rights and benefits advocacy, and bereavement support.

Northern Territory Legacy President of 15 years, Jack Hamilton, said the donation from Kleenheat will greatly assist their Legacy families.

“The $5,000 will be used across a variety of areas, supporting our families and widows to replace failed equipment such as washing machines, or other repairs to residences and generally supporting families,” said Mr Hamilton.

As part of a community support program, Kleenheat asked its customers to help them select seven different local causes, charities or community groups across Western Australia and the Northern Territory to donate a total of $35,000 to. Kleenheat’s Northern Territory customers selected their local Legacy as their preferred and most deserving group.

“Kleenheat is proud to be associated with Northern Territory Legacy; we support the great work that they do in providing assistance to the many deserving veterans’ families and widows,” said Kleenheat Business Representative, Mark Cottier.

Legacy provides support to 32 Legatees and 140 Widows across the Northern Territory.

Kleenheat is an energy solutions provider in Western Australia and the Northern Territory. Kleenheat produces, imports and distributes liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) to residential and commercial markets across WA and NT through a comprehensive network of distribution centres, and dealers; as well as retailing natural gas to residential and commercial markets, and electricity to businesses in WA.
